

Press Release – DVC New Corporate Design March 2010

DVC relaunches new website with modern corporate design

"With the new corporate design and especially with the new website we want to make it easy for prospects to use" says General Manager Andreas Mazanec. The clear and contemporary layout lets DVC present their streaming and professional digital video solutions in an appealing way. There are two pathways through the portfolio, by target or by product, and customers can quickly find what they are looking for. The newly updated logo emphasizes DVC's technical competence and the high degree of innovation of all the solutions offered by DVC.

About DVC Digital Video Competence

Since 1990 DVC Digitalvideo Computing GmbH and the follow-up company DVC Digital Video Competence GmbH has been developing, producing and selling integrated system solutions for the DigitalVideo-, Presentation- and HDTV market. At the same time DVC is the European respective German master distributor for several well-known manufactures in the HDTV/Digitalvideo, desktop video, broadcasting and streaming media market.

DVC's own products including the Boxxster, ClipRecorder, ClipDisk, microStorage and the megacine have their focus on markets like film scanning, video post-editing, Digitaldailys, presentation and research & development.

With the Techex group as strategic partner DVC can offer a complete range of streaming solutions for organizations to securely and cost-effectively deliver live, broadcast and on-demand TV-quality video to any network-connected computers and TVs.

An international distribution network has been established with the help of representations in Belgium, Eastern Europe, France, Great Britain, India, Middle East, Norway, South Africa, Spain, The Netherlands, Poland and Vietnam.
